Projects

CSCE 145

- Created a program which plays out a “choose your own adventure game”
 - Uses Java as the base programming language.
 - Previous choices will stay with them and affect later decision options
- Created a program which took input for apple type, price, and weight
 - The program was able to be repeated and store more data until user chose to exit.

CSCE 190

- Created a dedicated github link for personal resume and current project information

Personal

- Built a program to collect book names and authors
 - Program can pull from collected names at random
 - User can dictate if they'd like to move the book to a “to read again” list, stored elsewhere
